CZAR'S ARMIES HURLED BACK WITH TREMENDOUS LOSSES ALONG THE ENTIRE LINE

Von Scholtz, Von Gallwitz, Von Eichhorn, Von Mackensen and Bavarians Victorious.

CITY OF LUKOW TAKEN.

Zambrowo Also Captured, Says Berlin, After Violent Two-Days' Battle.

BERLIN, via wireless to London, Aug. 12.—Gen. von Scholtz's army has captured the important bridgehead at Vlna, east of Lomza, leading over the Narew River. This afternoon's official statement also reported the capture of the Wain bridgehead.

South of Vlna, where a violent battle has been in progress for two days, Gen. von Gallwitz has occupied Zambrowo, twelve miles from the Warsaw-Petrograd Railway. The Russians are falling back against the railway on the entire line from Lomza south to Novo Georgiewsk.

Bavarian troops moving north from Ivangorod have captured the railway town of Lukow, only seventeen miles south of Siedlce, toward which the Russians who fled from Warsaw are retreating. Lukow stands on the shortest railway route between Warsaw and Brest Litovsk, making it imperative for the retreating Russians to take a roundabout course in retreating up the river.

"Our air forces have bombarded the Bialostok railway junction," said the official statement, "causing several sharp explosions."

"In the north Gen. von Eichhorn has repulsed a Russian attack south of the Niemen River in a bloody battle, the enemy suffering heavy losses."

"In the southeast Gen. Mackensen has penetrated strongly fortified Russian positions after sharp fighting on the whole front between the Bug and Parczew, the enemy retreating."

In the Western theatre of war the only combats of importance are occurring in the western Argonne, where the Crown Prince is attacking the French lines. The War Office reported the capture of a group of fortified French positions near Vienne-le-Chateau.

GENEVA, Switzerland, August 12 (via Paris).—A despatch to the Geneva Tribune from Innsbruck, capital of the Austrian Tyrol, says: "German operations have been suspended on the Kovo-Suwalki-Grodno front because of a lack of reinforcements, no new troops having arrived since Aug. 4."

"The Russian offensive at Kovo is of the greatest importance, as the German first line troops, chiefly Prussian Landwehr, suffered terrible losses on Aug. 8 and Aug. 9. In this section as well as in the region between Lomza and the Bug, it is remarked that many regiments are much below the average in strength."

ADRIATIC IS SAFE AT LIVERPOOL PIER

White Star Liner Reported Arriving With Load of War Munitions.

LONDON, Aug. 12.—The White Star Line steamship Adriatic, which sailed from New York on Aug. 4, arrived at Liverpool this afternoon.

FIND JEWEL TAKEN IN $15,000 LOOT FROM PAWNSHOP

Arrest May Clear Up Robbery in Stern's Third Avenue Store.

The diamond, sapphire, and ruby tie-clasp worn by Antonio de Lalla when the police brought him down from Waterbury, Conn., to-day, was positively identified by Adolph Stern as one of the pledges included in the $15,000 jewelry theft which was engineered in Stern's pawn shop, No. 1503 Third Avenue, at 8.30 o'clock on the morning of Jan. 30.

Stern's private mark, which he places on all articles left with him, was on the inside of the clasp, and when this was pointed out de Lalla, who had vigorously denied any knowledge of the robbery up to that time, refused to say another word until his case came up in court.

In hunting de Lalla, Captain of Detectives William Jones followed the scant clue offered by the fact that among the $180 taken from the cash drawer by the robbers was a $1 bill that had been initialed and inscribed by Stern because it was the first one he took in when he went into business.

Capt. Jones learned that this bill had been passed in a First Avenue restaurant largely patronized by members of the gang which supported the late Giuseppe Galuch, who had been a leader in that section. Working with that as a basis, Jones found that de Lalla was missing from his usual haunts, and by letters which the missing man wrote to a girl here he was traced to Waterbury. He was arrested there to-day on instructions from the New York Police Department and at once brought down here to Headquarters.

According to the story told by Morris Decker, manager of the pawnshop, he and a clerk named Jerry Stern and an errand boy were in the shop on the morning of the robbery when three men came in, held them up, bound them, gagged them and hauled them into the rear of the place.

The robbers then filled with jewelry and cash several suit cases and bags which they selected from Stern's stock. Decker said he and his companions managed to roll out to the front of the shop after the hold-up men had gone, and by knocking a pair of scissors off a desk, succeeded finally in cutting their bonds. "The description Decker gave of the thieves was vague."

De Lalla, who is twenty-one years old, gives his occupation as a driver, and formerly lived at No. 300 East One Hundred and Nineteenth Street. Detective De Martini brought him from Waterbury. The detectives expect that other arrests in the case will follow.

Robert G. Martin Dies Suddenly. Robert G. Martin, thirty-two years of age, and associated with the Wall Street firm of Albert Phillips & Co., died suddenly to-day at his home, No. 42 St. Nicholas Avenue. His father, Robert W. Martin, is a well known newspaper man.

CANNOT IDENTIFY OWN SON, SO PUT IT UP TO GRANDMA

Mr. and Mrs. Glass Bringing Baby from Oklahoma to Jersey City.

BOY WAS KIDNAPPED.

Parents Study Youngster Four Hours, But Are Not Quite Sure.

The more Mr. and Mrs. Charles Glass of No. 13 Lineau Place, Jersey City, look at the little boy who the police of Norman, Okla., thought was their missing son, the more uncertain they become whether it is really their little Jimmy. The resemblance is so incredible that neither parent is able to say definitely that the founding whom they went out there to identify is not their son, and the child is to be brought back to Jersey City for Jimmy's grandmother to look at. If it is Jimmy she will know him, she says, and the parents believe she is right. She has had the care of the child far more than they have.

Yesterday Mrs. Glass wired her sister, Miss Mathilda Englebreck, as follows: "Disappointed again. Child not James. Resemblance so remarkable it took four hours to make us positive it was not our little boy."

But to-day Miss Englebreck got another telegram saying that her sister and her brother-in-law would remain in Norman another day, at least, because they were still uncertain whether it is the same four-year-old boy they believe was kidnapped last May.

On receipt of this telegram Miss Englebreck consulted Deputy Commissioner Norton of the New Jersey Police Department, and it was on his advice that it was decided to bring the Oklahoma waif back to Jersey City.

The father of the missing Jimmy Glass is away from home on business a great deal of the time, and his mother also travels. As a result the little chap's grandmother is the one who has had the intimate handling of him, and the parents rely on her to make the decision which will give the Oklahoma baby a home or turn him adrift on the world again.

The Glass family, Jimmy, and two younger sisters, his Madeline and Blanche, were spending a vacation at the farm of Edwin Faust, some 300 feet from the Post Office at Greeley, Pa. Mrs. Glass and the two little girls had gone to the Post Office on the morning of May 12 and left little Jimmy by a hedge in the yard where his father could keep an eye on him from the window.

The father turned his head away for

LINER LAPLAND SAILS WITH BIG WAR CARGO

The Lapland, operating for the White Star Line, left New York to-day for Liverpool with sixteen first-class and ninety second-class passengers, and her capacity in freight. The Lapland was delayed for nearly two hours by the loading of a large quantity of Virginia tobacco in hogheads and the bracing of many auto trucks on the decks. By order of the White Star Line, no one save passengers and employees was permitted aboard the ship, and every piece of baggage was carefully examined. Private detectives and two policemen were on the pier.

TURKISH CRUISERS GOEBEN AND BRÉSLAU TORPEDOED

British Submarines Penetrate Straits Into Black Sea.

LONDON, Aug. 12.—A despatch to the Daily Telegraph from Athens says that the Turkish cruiser Goeben (renamed Sultan Selim after her purchase from Germany by Turkey) has been torpedoed by an allied submarine near the Bosphorus.

The despatch adds that the crew succeeded in running the cruiser aground in a narrow creek, where workmen are now building a dike all around her to enable repairs to be made.

A despatch to the Daily News from Athens says it is reported there that the British submarines operating in the Dardanelles have not only passed through the Dardanelles and the Sea of Marmora but have succeeded in running through the Bosphorus into the Black Sea and have there torpedoed the cruiser Breslau and an armed Turkish transport.

RUSSIAN WARSHIPS REPORTED BOTTLED UP

Berlin Claims That Czar's Fleet Has Been Trapped in Gulf of Riga.

Racing Results and Entries

DADDY'S CHOICE WINS FIRST RACE AT SARATOGA TRACK

SARATOGA RACE TRACK, N. Y., Aug. 12.—The weather was clear at this time this afternoon, but there was no telling when the rain would come down. It spattered a bit early in the day, but really did not get started up to post time in the opening event. The crowd was up to the standard in size and the programme promised sport above the ordinary.

Romer worked in public before the first race for Saturday's Champlain Handicap, in which he is allotted two weight, 132 pounds. He covered a mile and an eighth in 1:55 4-5; very good considering the slow track. The fractional time was 0:24 2-5, 0:36 3-5, 0:48 3-5, 1:01 2-5, 1:14 2-5, 1:28, 1:41 3-5 and 1:55 4-5.

The first race was full of tips, and for once one of them won. This was Daddy's Choice, said to have been heavily played in New York and various parts of the country. After running close to the pace of Southern Star in the early morning, Daddy's Choice went to the front with him at the eighth pole and then drew away. Big Todd, another tip, ridden by young Garner, came with a rush in the final furlong, but second was the best he could do, a length behind the winner. Bill Duly's Noll just got up in time to head Southern Star out of third money.

MRS. HEVENOR WINS BLACK BAG DIVORCE AFTER LONG FIGHT

Wife, Sued by Husband, Is Twice Exonerated and Then Is Granted Decree.

SHE WILL GET SONS.

Lumber Man Must Also Continue to Pay Her $15 a Week.

The martial troubles of Harvey H. Hevenor Jr., wealthy lumber merchant, and Mrs. Grace Hevenor, which have passed through many exciting years of legal battles, came to an end to-day when Supreme Court Justice Scudder in Brooklyn granted Mrs. Hevenor an interlocutory decree of divorce.

In granting the decree the Justice confirmed a report submitted to him by former Supreme Court Justice Marean, who was named as referee to hear testimony in Mrs. Hevenor's suit. Since the action was started Hevenor had been paying his wife $15 a week. Under the decree granted to-day he will continue to pay her that sum.

Mrs. Hevenor, before her marriage to Hevenor at Lake Placid on Aug. 25, 1905, was Grace Dimon, a belle of Hammondport, N. Y. As a society girl there she had become engaged to Charles J. Drake. The engagement was broken off and Drake married a Brooklyn girl, who in 1906 sued her husband for a divorce and named Mrs. Hevenor as co-respondent. Mrs. Drake won her suit.

In December, 1912, Hevenor began a suit for divorce, following the kidnapping of their child, Harvey H. Hevenor Jr., now seven years old. Mrs. Hevenor alleged that the little fellow was taken away by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Marion Nixon.

The kidnapping was followed by a "raid" on Mrs. Hevenor's home, and then the divorce suit was filed. George W. Shiner, a real estate man, being named as co-respondent. Meantime Mrs. Hevenor learned that her son was being held in Lakewood, N. J., went there and recovered him. She then came out victorious in the divorce case.

Hevenor began a new action in November, 1913, and named five men as co-respondents, although at the trial he confined the evidence to one, F. C. Wells, who, he said, acted improperly with Mrs. Hevenor at the Hotel Navarre. A black bag found in the hotel, which it was believed would furnish ample evidence for a divorce, was introduced in court. When opened it was found to contain a handkerchief, an empty bottle and a few other harmless articles. Mrs. Hevenor won this suit.

Her victory was followed by the suit against her husband, which she now has won. One of the stipulations of the present finding is that Hevenor must pay for the education of their son, who remains in her custody but may be seen occasionally by his father.
